FIRST APPEARANCE ON THE DIAMOND.

Matthewson first appeared on a baseball diamond at Bucknell College, where he soon became known as "the Wizard" among his college chums, who could not understand how any human could have so much control over a small sphere. The fame of the "College Wonder" soun spread through Virginia where "fast State leaving avistic ginia, where a fast State league existed. Matthewson was induced to join the Wheel-ing club of West Virginia, and won eighteen out of twenty-one games for his team. Last fall he was signed by New York, and was given but two trials, one of which was against St. Louis at League Park, the other against Brocklyn. Both games were lost, and Manager Davis had his doubts about the young man, but retained him for this season. Matthewson's poor showing did not gain him any contract with a fabulous salary attached. It is said on good authority that he was virtually working for nothing this spring in hopes of "making good," as he had a world of confidence in himself. Matthewson not only made good—he did what all the money of Andrew Freedman and the combined brains of the National League magnates had falled to do—he built up baseball in New York City, where it was supposed the game had died a violent death. Matthewson alone dispelled this illusion. He drew the largest crowd to the Polo Grounds in Gotham that ever attended a baseball game in any city. The St. Louis club was fortunate enough to be his opponent and to defeat him on that day—Decoration Day. Nearly 30,000 persons paid not less than 50 cents each to are the New York club play against St. Louis that day. But Matthewson was in the box, and he was the magnet.

day. But Matthewson was in the box, and he was the magnet.

The New York club is said to have taken in enough money this early in the season to pay its way until October, and the balance of the gate receipts will be net profit. Andrew Freedman, despite his inclination to rule the world in general and the National League in particular, is no niggard. As soon as Matthewson proved such a moneymaking investment, Mr. Freedman sent for him and after a short conference Matthewson left with a new contract calling for a salary of $5,000 per annum and a bonus at the end of the season if his great work was continued.

EVERY DAY.

As Matthewson seems to be getting better every day there is no telling when he is going to stop. Apparently he has no weak coing to stop. Apparently he has no weak collection.

Having "stuff" on a ball means a twist that will kill its force in the rebound from the bat. Some twirlers can pitch so that four bails out of five balls hit will go into the air. Powell is the greatest local instance of this. Harper pitches so that a majority of the balls hit off his delivery will sizzle and twist on the ground where the infielders have little trouble in getting them. But Matthewson seems to combine the cleverness of Powell and Harper. He pitches balls that will leave the bat with hair-raising speed and land in a waiting mitt like a bean bag. Sudboff hit a liner to Matthewson which looked as though it would go right through the young Glant, but it just dropped into his glove. Like "English" on billiard balls, nine out of ten experts in the use of it cannot explain just what it is. Matthewson himself has never-sincerely stated that he could not explain his success except in the stereotyped way: "Speed, control, a good slow ball and the proper change of pace."

Matthewson is young in years, and his time in the National League can possibly be measured only by his desires. He is a teetotaler, never touches any kind of alcoholic drinks, neither smokes nor uses tobacco in any form, and, in fact, takes perfect care of his physical condition at all times. His arm is as sound as a bell. Matthewson was a crack football player at Bucknell College, and so eminent an authority as Walter Camp of Yale pronounced him the greatest drop kicker in America. In build the sensational twirler oou'd hardly be improved upon, unless it be at the knees—he is a bit "knock-kneed." He has a huge frame, well muscled, and underpinning capable of carrying it.

Matthewson's best recommendation as a man is that he has not the slightest symptoms of the "swelled head." The best that can be said of him as a pitcher is that he let down Patsy Donovan's sluggers without a single hit. Having "stuff" on a ball means a twist that will kill its force in the rebound from

FIRST DOUBLE-HEADER TO-DAY.

Boston Will Open Series With Two Games—Burns Farmed Out.
Frank Selee's Bostonians will furnish the attraction at League Park this afternoon, and will play the first double-header of the season in this city. Boston had to postpone a game on the last trip on account of rain, and it will be started at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At its conclusion a rest of fifteen minutes will be taken, and the regular scheduled game commenced. Powell and Murphy are up for their turns, and they probably will be cut loose on the Beanesters as a pair. St. Louis has played seven double-headers this season, but has failed to take both games in any one instance. Local fans are hoping to see Brooklyn take a momentary brace and haul down Pittsburg, while Manager Donovan "sics" his terrors onto the visitors and crawls up on the Pirates.

Ilmny Burns has been farmed out to the Boston Will Open Series With Two Jimmy Burns has been farmed out to the Grand Rapids club of Michigan. As pre-dicted yesterday, Burns was tied with a tight cord before being allowed to amble away from St. Louis. He can be brought back at any time.

The St. Louis team is now playing with sixteen men, and it looks as though they will be retained for the remainder of the season. Wicker and Heydon are of unknown quality in a certain sense, but they will make good if records count for anything at all.

Pete Childs has been signed to replace "Cupid" Childs at second base for the Chicago club. A regular berth will improve the ex-St.Louisan considerably, and it would be no surprise to see him come here with the Windy City aggregation and bang the ball all over League Park. He will try his best to do so, at any rate.

the volume entitled, "Commercial Relations for 1900," which is now in press, this extract dealing with United States trade with Belgium.

According to Consul Winslow at Llege, Belgium is a manufacturing center, having exported last year some $55,000,000 worth and imported over $60,000,000 worth. Of the imports the United States contributed over $56,000,000 worth, and received some $13,000,-000 worth of the exports.

Consul General Lincoln, at Antwerp, states that the trade between the two countries last year was marked by a large gain in imports of corn from the United States, an increase in the importation of firearms into the United States and a decrease in the importation into Belgium of American refined petroleum, bleycies, hemp, wheat and salted and smoked meats.

Our iron-working machinery, according to Consul Winslow, is bought by Belgium manufacturers in preference to all other kinds, even at an advance in price over the machinery of other countries, and their own. The German imitation is admitted, he says, to fall far short of the American original.

American machinery, it is stated, has wonderfully changed the manner of making frearms in Belgium, and many of the cheaper weapons are now made by autothat may demand his personal attention.

There are some features of the Chinese problem that may have to be passed upon by the President. It is said that nothing has been heard at the State Department from Commissioner Rockhill in regard to the hitch over the Japanese indemnity, which seems to be the only stumbling block in the completion of arrangements. The Commissioner's silence is thought to indicate difficulty in reaching an agreement.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Washington, July 16.—The State Department has received from Richard Guenther. the United States Consul General at Frankfort, Germany, the following concerning trade openings in the Transvaal:

"The Belgian Consul at Johannesburg says that there will soon be openings for the sale of the following goods in the Transvaal: Axles of steel and iron for locomotives, railroad cars and other vehicles; wagon springs and oil and grease boxes; all the various materials for narrow gauge railroads; implements for agriculture and forestry; also rolling cars for mines, drawbridges, etc.; hoists and hoisting machinery for mines; pumps, ventilators and other mine appliances; cutlery of all kinds.

WILL SELECT FROM JUDICIARY. President Looking for Member of Hague Arbitration Commission.

Hague Arbitration Commission.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Washington, July 16.—To maintain the political balance of the American representation on The Hague Arbitration Commission, the President regards it as essential to appoint a Republican to fill the vacancy created by the death of ex-President Harrison.

Although many applications have been received for this post, some difficulty is being experienced in finding a person of national reputation, who combines with the judicial temperament the knowledge of international law and other qualities necessary to fit him for the honor.

It is determined that the Supreme Court will not be further drawn upon, to the manifest delay of its other business; the United States Senate is barred as a field of selection, and the indications are that the choice will fall upon some distinguished member of the State judiciary.

CHARGED WITH KILLING GIRL.

Henry Wisely, Negro, on Trial for Murder at Warrensburg. REPUBLIC SPECIAL.
Warrensburg, Mo., July 16.—The trial of Henry Wisely, the negro charged with the murder of Nellie Allen, a 15-year-old white murder of Nellie Allen, a 15-year-old white girl at Knobnoster, on March 5, was begun in the Circuit Court here yesterday. The defense asked for a continuance of the case, but this was refused.

A number of important witnesses have falled to appear, and attachments were issued for them. A jury was selected to-day from a venire of eighty men. Most of the jurymen are from the remote parts of the county. The case is creating a great deal of interest and the courtroom is crowded daily. Prosecuting Attorney Morrow read the indictment and made the preliminary statement to the jury this afternoon, after which court adjourned until 3 o'clock to-morrow.

SUGGESTIONS FOR TABLE AND KITCHEN.

Okra is a vegetable par excellence in the hands of a good Southern cook.

The seed pod is the edible part of this plant, and is wholesome and nutritious. There are two varieties grown for the market; of these, the best is the short, thick, green pod, which will remain tender longer than the long, slender pod, which is pale green and wiry.

Dried okra may be obtained in the market when the fresh is out of season. It is sliced in rings and evaporated like apples. The very small tender pods may be canned whole.

whole.

When dried it must soak in water for an hour before cooking and then bolled in salted water until tender, which will require about twenty minutes.

Okra may be dried at home with very little trouble. Cut the pods in rings, string these on cords and hang them where they will dry quickly.

Stewed Okra.

Take young and tender pods, cut off each end and wash them thoroughly, boil them in salted water until tender (about three-quarters of an hour), then drain off the water; season with salt, pepper and butter and serve in a covered vegetable dish.

Okra Gumbe Soup.

Wash, trim and cut into silces a quart of young, tender okra; piace in a granite saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, a medium-sized onion, a medium-sized green pepper, both minced fine; stir over the fire until a golden brown, then add three large tomatoes peeled and cut into pieces, three tablespoonfuls of Spanish or some hot pepper sauce and sait to taste, and the okra. Cover the saucepan and simmer gently for half an hour. Turn out on a hot dish and sprinkle over with a teaspoonful of minced parsley and serve.

Brunswick Stew.

Stew a large fowl until the meat leaves the bones; remove skin, gristle and bones and chop the meat in coarse pieces. Return to the liquor; add a pint of corn scraped from the ears, a pint of young lima beans, three cups of tomato, a good-sized onion, minced fine, a pint of young okras, a small red pepper, minced, a little celety seed, two tablespoonfuls of butter, and sait, pepper and Worcestershire sauce to taste. Simmer until okra is tender and then serve.

Golden Medical Discovery.

"I thank God for the good your medican have done me," writes Mr. James M. Message of Mitchell, Lawrence Co., Ind., Roz got. "I was not well for two years. My throat we always sore head ached, and back ached assay all the time. My weight was 135 possible. I was taken sick with typhoid fever, and was the fever left me I had such a pain in any left side I could not breathe without pain. I thought I must die. My wife went to the drug store and procured a bottle of Dr. Flercorts Golden Medical Discovery and a viol of Mr. Flessant reliers. I discontinued the une on my doctor's medicine and began with the "Golden Medical Discovery and a viol of Mr. Flessant reliers." I discontinued the une of Golden Medical Discovery and Politak. I as once began to feel better: the pain soon left any side and I could breathe with case. This was or so I felt so good I could not stay in the seas. I began to walk about the streets; I felt hat each morning. After a month's use of the seas. I he was continued to the streets. I felt hat case in my life."
